Mr. Dotter,

On behalf of myself and my mother, who continues her fight against breast cancer, we would like to extend our most sincere and gracious thanks to you and your company for your support of breast cancer awareness.

We were honored when Greg, on his own accord, began wearing pink on Mondays. We couldn't believe it when Virginia Business Systems agreed to allow him to purchase a company-logoed pink shirt, so he could continue to support the fight while still being in compliance with company uniform standards. And now, after hearing this latest development, we are simply beside ourselves. Your willingness to provide pink shirts for all VBS employees is amazing, especially that you've agreed to cover the expenses yourself in exchange for employees donating the cost of their shirt to Susan G. Komen.

You are an inspiration, a true role-model of selflessness in this act, and a warrior in the fight against this all too widespread disease. We hope, with support like this, the increase in awareness you are helping to promote will lead one day, one day in the near future, to a cure for this disease. Every act of support and every penny donated are getting us all that much closer to the cure.

Thank you, truly, from the bottom of our hearts.

Sincerely,

Sarah Sebree
